The unit starts and operates. The unit is dirty. The right side steer tire is worn unevenly and has pits, indicating the unit might need an alignment. The fuel filter needs to be replaced. A full service is needed if the fuel filter is overdue. The lift gate needs maintenance or replacement. The paint on the box is in rough shape. The coolant appears to be low. The exhaust is rusted and the DPF heat shield is dented. The box has broken corner caps and is scratched and dirty above the cab and in the rear. The front tires are included in the damages due to poor alignment. They do not need to be replaced at this time, but if the truck receives an alignment, the tires will need to be replaced.
